

Published on The National Law Review <https://natlawreview.com>

California COVID-19 Series: Considerations for Businesses Requiring Customer Face Coverings

Article By:

Joseph L. Beachboard

David Raizman

In this episode of our California COVID-19 series, Joe Beachboard and David Raizman discuss how Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act can impact businesses' decisions surrounding requiring customers to wear face coverings. They address the myriad of local, state, and federal orders and guidances, the competing interests of employees, customers, and vendors, and provide tips on how to best strike a balance.