

Published on The National Law Review <https://natlawreview.com>

---

Allyship: How to Support Your Black Colleagues During This Racial Pandemic

Article By:

Sierra J. Gray

---

As the global community continues to grapple with issues of racial injustice, Sierra Gray discusses how employers and employees can be allies in workplace, including identifying and addressing micro-aggressions and the concept of colorblindness. This podcast provides a starting point of resources for listening to, engaging with, and standing up for others. As discussed in the podcast, a list of resources to start with can be found here.

https://media.blubrry.com/ogletreedeakinspodcasts/content.blubrry.com/ogletreedeakinspodcasts/Allyship-How\_to\_Support\_Your\_Black\_Colleagues\_During\_This\_Racial\_Pandemic.mp3?\_=1

© 2025, Ogletree, Deakins, Nash, Smoak & Stewart, P.C., All Rights Reserved.

---

National Law Review, Volume X, Number 170

Source URL: <https://natlawreview.com/article/allyship-how-to-support-your-black-colleagues-during-racial-pandemic>