

Published on The National Law Review <https://natlawreview.com>

Diversity & Inclusion at Work: Global Laws & Compliance [PODCAST]

Article By:

Employment Law at Ogletree Deakins

In this episode of our Diversity & Inclusion at Work series, Kimya Johnson and Bonnie Puckett discuss how employers with global workforces can create a diversity and inclusion program in light of differing and often conflicting laws across jurisdictions. Highlighting issues covered in the D&I Legal Survey, Model Policy, and Compliance Tools kit, this podcast details the various political, cultural and economic considerations for employers to create a D&I program and code of compliance consistent with their global values.

https://media.blubrry.com/ogletreedeakinspodcasts/content.blubrry.com/ogletreedeakinspodcasts/Global_Laws_Compliance.mp3

© 2025, Ogletree, Deakins, Nash, Smoak & Stewart, P.C., All Rights Reserved.

National Law Review, Volume X, Number 174

Source URL: <https://natlawreview.com/article/diversity-inclusion-work-global-laws-compliance-podcast>