Global Solutions, Episode 18: Workplace Transmission During the COVID-19 Pandemic [PODCAST]

Article By:

Jaslyn W. Johnson

Rebecca Emery

In this episode of our Global Solutions podcast series, Jaslyn Johnson and Rebecca Emery discuss what constitutes a COVID-19 workplace outbreak or cluster in various jurisdictions. The speakers also cover the different requirements placed on employers that are faced with an outbreak, including mandatory disinfection procedures, the use of contact tracing apps, business closures, protocols for sending employees home and returning them to work after a quarantine, and seeking health information from employees.
