This Is Labor in California, Episode 3: Granting Access to Private Property During Labor Disputes [PODCAST]

Article By:

Maria Anastas

Sean M. Kramer

In this episode of our California labor law podcast series, Maria Anastas, Daniel Adlong, and Sean Kramer review the rights of labor unions in California to access private property during labor disputes. The speakers discuss the burdens associated with obtaining an injunction during a labor dispute, in addition to California's Moscone Act and relevant case law.
