

Published on The National Law Review <https://natlawreview.com>

Real Quick: ANOTHER (4th!) TCPA Suit Was Just Filed Against Republicans and I'm Starting to Wonder What's Up

Article By:

Eric J. Troutman

As we've been tracking—in posts that have received a ton of traffic for some reason— there have been three big TCPA suits filed against right-leaning political groups over the last week related to campaign text messages.

Well, now we can make it four.

In a new suit filed in federal court in Texas today a consumer named Savannah Berger claims that the RNC—the Republican National Committee— peppered her with unwanted robotexts although her number is on the DNC.

She seeks unspecified damages under two sections of the TCPA. The complaint is here: Berger complaint.

There appears to be a lot of interest in these suits given the strong engagement from TCPAWorld to these posts so I'll keep advising as they're being filed.

© 2025 Troutman Amin, LLP

National Law Review, Volume XI, Number 70

Source URL: <https://natlawreview.com/article/real-quick-another-4th-tcpa-suit-was-just-filed-against-republicans-and-i-m-starting>