

Published on The National Law Review <https://natlawreview.com>

Health Care and Employment Law: 2020 Year in Review and Looking Ahead [PODCAST]

Article By:

Spencer Hamer

In this episode, Jackie Hoffman interviews Spencer Hamer about recent developments in employment law that have impacted the health care industry. This episode touches on various topics, including COVID-19 screening at the workplace, vaccination requirements, family member and whistleblower claims, physician non-competes, and racism as a public health threat.

This episode of Triage is recorded in collaboration with our Working Wise podcast. For more information on this topic, please read our related client alert, "Employment Law Developments That Will Impact the Health Care Industry in 2021," authored by members of our Labor, Employment, and Workplace Safety practice.

Copyright 2025 K & L Gates

National Law Review, Volume XI, Number 74

Source URL: <https://natlawreview.com/article/health-care-and-employment-law-2020-year-review-and-looking-ahead-podcast>