Washington Post Highlights Impact of Sequester on Scientific Research

Article By:

Ilisa Halpern Paul

In the September 24th edition of the Washington Post, Ariana Eunjung Cha highlighted the impact of budget cuts on research funding in her article “Budget Sequester Squeezes Scientific Research.” Cha notes that sequestration, across-the-board cuts that went into effect on March 1, 2013, has delayed research and forced layoffs in research labs across the country.
