

ACI Recognizes “Early Adopters” of Sustainable Feedstocks Initiative

Article By:

Lynn L. Bergeson

On September 18, 2023, the American Cleaning Institute (ACI) recognized member companies that have been “early adopters” of its Sustainable Feedstocks Initiative, “aimed to drive the use of more sustainable feedstocks in cleaning product ingredients and products throughout the industry.” ACI states that the initiative focused on the top raw materials used in cleaning products. For the purposes of this initiative, ACI defines a sustainable feedstock as “a raw or recycled material available to meet the requirements of the cleaning product industry today without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their needs.” According to ACI, member companies participating in the Initiative are meeting the goals associated with the Sustainable Feedstocks Pledge:

- _____
- _____
- _____

“Early Adopter” companies include Henkel, IFF, Inolex, Novozymes, and Twin Rivers Technologies.

National Law Review, Volume XIII, Number 283

Source URL: <https://natlawreview.com/article/aci-recognizes-early-adopters-sustainable-feedstocks-initiative>