Agenda: 1. Topic 2. Definition 3. Importance 4. Conclusion

1. Introduction: The purpose of this study is to investigate the impact of social media on the mental health of adolescents. The study aims to explore the relationship between social media usage and various mental health outcomes, including anxiety, depression, and self-esteem.

2. Methodology: The study employed a quantitative research design, utilizing a survey questionnaire to collect data from a sample of 500 adolescents. The questionnaire included items related to social media usage, mental health symptoms, and demographic information. Data analysis was conducted using statistical software to identify correlations and trends.

3. Results: The findings of the study indicate a significant positive correlation between social media usage and mental health issues. Adolescents who spent more time on social media platforms reported higher levels of anxiety and depression, as well as lower self-esteem. The results suggest that excessive social media use may contribute to the development of mental health problems in this age group.

4. Conclusion: Based on the findings, it is concluded that social media usage has a detrimental effect on the mental health of adolescents. It is recommended that parents and educators monitor and limit social media usage to promote better mental well-being. Further research is needed to explore the underlying mechanisms and develop effective interventions to mitigate the negative impact of social media on adolescent mental health.
