

Published on The National Law Review <https://natlawreview.com>

Episode 78: What Immigration Might Look Like in a Second Trump Administration [Podcast]

Article By:

Lynden Melmed

U.S. business leaders tell BAL it has become easier to meet foreign talent needs.

A new report examines the human and economic costs of ending DACA.

And Lynden Melmed, the head of BAL's government strategies team, joins us to discuss one organization's vision for a second Trump administration.

©2025 Berry Appleman & Leiden. All Rights Reserved.

National Law Review, Volume XIV, Number 165

Source URL: <https://natlawreview.com/article/episode-78-what-immigration-might-look-second-trump-administration-podcast>