

Employment Law This Week Episode 360 - Spilling Secrets: After the Block - What's Next for Employers and Non-Competes? [Video, Podcast]

Article By:

Paul DeCamp

Peter A. Steinmeyer

Erik W. Weibust

George Carroll Whipple, III

This week, on our Spilling Secrets podcast series, our panelists delve into the implications for employers following the recent blockage of the Federal Trade Commission's (FTC's) non-compete ban.

After the Block: What's Next for Employers and Non-Competes?

On August 20, 2024, the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas invalidated the FTC's non-compete ban, deeming it arbitrary and capricious and beyond the scope of the agency's statutory authority.

In this episode of Spilling Secrets, Epstein Becker Green attorneys Peter A. Steinmeyer, Erik W. Weibust, and Paul DeCamp tell us more about the court's decision to block the ban, what legal challenges remain, and the key considerations for employers moving forward.

Listen to Our Full-Length Podcast

View a Video Summary

©2025 Epstein Becker & Green, P.C. All rights reserved.

Source URL: <https://natlawreview.com/article/employment-law-week-episode-360-spilling-secrets-after-block-whats-next-employers>