China's State Council has recently released the official holiday schedule for 2025. China is adding 2 extra days to the 2025 holidays: 1 day for Spring Festival (Chinese New Year) and 1 day for the May Day holiday. However, China will continue to have weekend "make-up" days. Patent deadlines are extended to the next working day, not including weekend make-up days while trademark deadlines are extended to the next workday even if it is a weekend make-up day. The schedule follows.

| 2025 Holiday | Closure Days | Make-Up Days |
|------------------------------------|-------------------------|---------------------------|
| Western New Year | January 1 | N/A |
| Spring Festival | January 28 – February 4 | January 26 and February 8 |
| Tomb Sweeping Day | April 4 – 6 | N/A |
| Labor Day | May 1 – 5 | April 27 |
| Dragon Boat Festival | May 31 – June 2 | N/A |
| Mid-Autumn Festival & National Day | October 1 – 8 | September 28 & October 11 |
