The Legal Impact of Autonomous Vehicle Connectivity (Part Two) [PODCAST]

Article By:

Securities and Capital Markets At Ballard Spahr

In the second part of a podcast series on autonomous vehicles, Philip N. Yannella, Co-Practice Leader of Ballard Spahr's Privacy and Data Security Group, speaks to Joe Raczynski, a legal technologist and futurist for Thomson Reuters Legal, about the security and regulatory issues around driverless vehicles.

The pair discuss the potential for hacking and data theft of driverless cars and trucks, as well as the state of the regulatory environment for this new technology—both in the U.S. and around the world.
